PRICE TWO CENTS

ANNIE LEMBERGER CARRIED TO GRAVE

Great Crowd Lines Streets During Funeral of Madison Girl Murder Victim

MYSTERY IS STILL UNSOLVED

Swarm of Detectives Unable to Uncover Clue to Fiend Who Killed Child

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 11.—From a house surrounded by a great crowd of neighbors and curious visitors and the streets lined with people, the body of Annie Lemberger, seven years old, found in Lake Monona Saturday morning, after she had disappeared from her home four days, was carried to the grave this morning.

Through the crowd circulated detectives from the William J. Burns Detective agency, plain clothes men from the local police department and many an amateur detective excited to action by the reward of $1,000 offered by the city for the apprehension of the persons who had slugged the child before she was thrown into the lake.

So far there has been no trace found of the guilty persons, although several persons are under apprehension. Rumors of every sort are in circulation about the city and should arrests be made, it is feared that there may be an attempt at a lynching.

A clue that might lead to the arrest of the fiend of degeneracy who in all evidence cunningly cut away a screen of the humble home and lifted the little girl, clad only in night clothes, from her bed, was yet missing today. Burns' detectives working in conjunction with Dane county officials and city sleuths were entirely at sea.

A statement of the grief stricken mother that little Annie wore a tight-fitting undershirt beside her night dress, both missing from the nude body found in Lake Monona Saturday morning, has welded the belief that the little girl was a fiend's victim. No evidence of criminal assault, however, has been found to help solve the mystery.

Parents' Grief Genuine

Surveillance of Martin Lemberger, ditch digger, father of the dead child, will not be continued. According to authorities, Lemberger confessed statements. These, however, did not reveal a motive for such an unfatherly crime. Genuine grief on the part of the parents has caused stern detectives to throw any theory that the father may have done the inhuman murder of his little girl.

John Johnson, who recently finished serving a year in the state prison for wife abandonment, was Saturday night arrested in connection with the kidnapping and murder.

Johnson, who lives with his family at 14 South Frances street, three doors from the Lemberger home, was taken to the police station Saturday forenoon and closely questioned by Chief Thomas Shaughnessy regarding his movements Tuesday night and his knowledge of the kidnapping and murder.

Released Six Months Ago

He was sweated for more than an hour, but stoutly denied from the first that he committed the crime or knew anything more about it than other neighbors of the Lemberger family. He was permitted to go free, but was kept under surveillance by one of the detectives until evening, when Chief Shaughnessy had him brought in and locked up. The chief says he is holding Johnson on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and refuses to admit that he has any evidence connecting him with the Lemberger crime.

Johnson was released from the state prison at Waupun about six months ago, and has done little work since his return to Madison. He has a wife and four adult children, all of whom work. He sleeps in a room on the second floor of his home, coming and going at all hours of the day and night. Members of his family say they don't know anything about his movements Tuesday night except that he came in at some hour and occupied his bed.

Before being sent to prison for wife abandonment, Johnson served three short terms in the Dane county jail for drunkenness.

All doubt that the child was foully murdered was removed in an autopsy performed by prominent physicians shortly after the body was taken from Lake Monona. A confusion back of the ear was plainly discernible. This alone would have caused death. The child's parents were sweated this afternoon by Burns' detectives but no arrests have been made.

CONGRESSMAN'S CONDITION CRITICAL

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 11.—Representative J. P. Latta of Nebraska, who underwent a serious operation in this city a few days ago, has taken a change for the worst, and his condition is causing anxiety. The congressman's wife and two sons are now with him, Edward Latta having been called here today by wire.

TO TRY AIR TRIP ACROSS THE U. S.

Aviator Fowler Plans to Fly From San Francisco to New York City

MUST CROSS THE MOUNTAINS

Huge Crowds Watch Start of Most Dangerous Flight Ever Attempted

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Aviator Fowler was scheduled to start at 11 o'clock today from the park stadium in the first attempt ever made to fly from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast. He plans to arrive in Sacramento at 1 p. m., Colfax, Cal., at 3, and Reno, Nev., at six o'clock this evening. If he is able to maintain the schedule he has set for himself, the aviator will arrive in New York on Oct. 6 after having passed through Chicago and the other principal cities of the east. He will carry a message from General Brush, commanding the department of California to General Grant, commanding the department of the east. Fowler's biplane was taken out of its hangar at dawn and carefully inspected, preparatory to the big flight.

Fowler ascended at 11 o'clock for a brief flight around the stadium and when he alighted said he would not begin his trans-continental flight until shortly after noon. A huge crowd at that hour occupied the stadium while the roofs of San Francisco and Oakland buildings were crowded with people.

In his flight Fowler will be confronted with greater difficulties than any other aviator ever encountered in America. George Chavez' unfortunate flight over the Alps carried no greater danger than the trip Fowler has mapped out.

If Fowler gets no farther than Nevada he will have accomplished a remarkable feat, he will have crossed the Sierra Nevada. Resting places are few and far between making the trip unusually perilous. Fowler must fly at least 8,000 feet high over mountains and canyons so thickly wooded as to make a landing impossible. Once over these mountains, Fowler will have clear sailing into Reno. Leaving Reno, however, he will not leave the perils behind, as he will be forced to cross the deserts of Nevada, making long flights over alkali sands to the frequent stopping places. Then will come the most trying time of all—the spectacular flight over the main range of the Rocky Mountains.

FIRE COSTS 300 JOBS

KALISPELL, Mont., Sept. 11.—An incendiary fire destroyed the saw mill, drying and sorting sheds of the Somers Lumber company at Somers, on Flathead Lake yesterday. The loss is $200,000, covered by insurance. Fully 300 men are thrown out of employment. The planing mill, power plant and 30,000,000 feet of lumber in the yards were saved by assistance from the Kalispell fire department.

FARMER HELD FOR MURDER

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 11.—The police of Brownwood, near here, arrested George Brown, a rich farmer, in connection with the murder of his wife last night. The husband declares his wife was asleep on the porch last night when she was attacked and strangled by a robber. Many discrepancies in his account of his own movements caused his arrest.

RIVERS OF MOLASSES FLOOD NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—Tanks containing millions of gallons of molasses burst this afternoon and the commercial district was flooded with a sticky stream of treacle several feet deep. Scores of people had narrow escapes from drowning and suffocation. Repairs are being made in boats propelled over the surface of the molasses.

The tanks which burst are operated by the Sugar Planters' storage company and are located in the heart of the whole sale district. The retaining wall about the huge sheet steel structures caved in, leaving the enormous weight supported only by the metal, which gave way. The sluggish movement of the molasses enabled those whose lives were threatened to make their escape.

A huge water main beneath the street broke from the tremendous pressure and within a few minutes five million gallons of molasses, valued at a quarter of a million dollars was carried out to the Gulf of Mexico. Crazy old boats and rafts were improvised by the workmen in making repairs.

WAR SCARE HITS GERMAN MARKET

Panic Attributed to Manipulation of English and French Financiers; Outlook Grave

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Following Saturday's violent market slump the German bourse showed a fair recovery when it opened today and is now much steadier. In government circles the panic is attributed to a concerted attempt on the part of the French and English financiers to give Germany a taste of what would happen in the event of trouble with the Anglo-Gallic alliance and by this means to frighten German business men into urging the kaiser and his advisors to take more conciliatory attitude in Morocco.

How far this policy will prove successful, it is too soon to say though there are no signs of weakening on Germany's part. It is recognized as a fact even here, however, that heavy English and French withdrawals of capital from Germany must be disastrous to Teutonic enterprise. The country does business too largely on borrowed capital to be indifferent to a hostile attitude by the great lending concerns in London and Paris.

Saturday's flurry was probably due rather to a loss of self control among small investors rather than to any serious fear in higher financial circles here. It is not denied in any well informed quarters, however, that the outlook becomes graver with every additional delay.

Settlement Hopeless

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A peaceful settlement of the Anglo-German Moroccan settlement seems hopeless in view of Germany's latest demand in the opinion of diplomats here today unless some signatories to the Algeiras agreement ask for another agreement.

It is believed that this, rather than war, will be the outcome. Premier Callaux of France has submitted Germany's proposals to a committee of Moroccan experts who are still deliberating. It is said they derive France of nearly all its advantages in Morocco and give Germany greater powers than any other country.

BAKERIES MAY UNITE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 11.—Co-operative bakeries may be established in the leading cities of the United States where the baking trust refuses to recognize organized bakers, according to a plan announced today by the Bakers and Confectioners' union holding their annual meeting here.

BOY IN GRIP OF DREAD LOCKJAW

Otto Ratz Dies at St. Francis Hospital while Doctors Seek in Vain for Cause

Otto Ratz, aged 15 years, son of Otto W. Ratz, of the firm of Marquardt & Ratz, plumbers, is critically ill at the St. Francis hospital with lockjaw, resulting from an unknown cause. His condition is said to be serious in the extreme.

Dr. J. G. Egan, who has charge of the case, said today that so far as could be discovered there was no cut or wound on the boy's body to cause the development of the tetanus germ. He is of the opinion that there must have been some wound to allow the germs entry, but he claims that neither he nor the patient can locate the wound.

The symptoms of tetanus first developed about a week ago, and have steadily grown worse, until the doctor is at the present time using the tetanus anti-toxin in a last effort to save the boy's life. Several consultations over the case which presents some odd features have been held at the hospital.

BEATS BOY TO DEATH

TWO WITNESSES SAY THEY SAW MURDER; FIRE STARTED TO CONCEAL THE CRIME

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Police here today predicted that before night they would solve the mystery of the murder of little 12 year old Harry Smith whose charred body was found in the shop of Tony, the shoemaker, in a squalid tenement house here. The cobbler's shop had been set on fire to conceal the crime and the boy's body was burned so that identification was only made by fragments of clothing. Death resulted from a fractured skull.

Tony Milano, the shoemaker, is held by the police. He protests his innocence and declares that he gave the keys to the shop to a friend named Rodgers, whom he says may have committed the crime. A long examination today failed to shake this story. Mrs. Mattie Smith, mother of the murdered boy, said she was warned of the tragedy in a dream. She believes the man whom she described today as a "yellow Austrian" did the murder. Several weeks ago, she said, the Austrian accosted her on the street and swore that he would "wing her heart in a month." The police have been unable to obtain a coherent story from the bereaved mother but are looking for the Austrian. Two witnesses were found who said they saw a man beating a small boy in the shop Saturday night.

IS FINED $7.50

John Harrington was given a fine of $7.50 in police court this morning for conducting himself in an improper manner on the streets last night.

HUGHES BOOM NOT WARMLY RECEIVED

Progressives Accuse Regulars of Trying to Place Them in False Position

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The reception by progressive republicans today of the boom of Justice Charles E. Hughes for the presidency, was not enthusiastic.

The boom was generally characterized as a boom by the regulars to place the progressives in a position of "playing politics." The following statement was issued at progressive headquarters by Medill McCormick.

"No progressive leader who has allied himself with the movement for the control of the 1912 convention so far as known has declared for the candidacy of Justice Hughes. Some time ago friends of Justice Hughes in New York started a quiet canvass in his behalf and, as is well known, the justice himself nipped the plan in the bud. He called off his friends and would not permit consideration of his name. Progressive republicans are making a fight to control the next convention. They believe that progressive control of the party means the salvation of the party in the next election. The organization which the progressives have made is not a political trying concern. It is making a fight for principle."

"The fact that reactionary newspapers already are in the business of attempting to create the impression that the men managing this movement are playing the old time worn game of back stairs politics is proof that the progressive strength over the country is alarming to those who know nothing but the old game of politics."

DIEGLE HAS CHANCE TO ESCAPE PRISON

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Notwithstanding the fact that Prosecutor Turner said today that he expected to hear nothing further in the way of a confession from Rodney J. Diegle, sergeant-at-arms, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for legislative bribery, it is known that the state is still dangle a suspension of that sentence for Diegle, provided he gives information that will convict others.

It was stated authoritatively today that John E. Egan, Diegle's attorney, has made arrangements with Turner whereby Diegle will turn over to the state before next Monday a signed statement. Egan insists that it will not be a confession but that the "statement" will give the state valuable tips toward uncovering valuable evidence. Diegle has until Sept. 18 to produce his statement.

MAINE VOTES ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Early Returns in Pine Tree State Indicate Victory for Anti-Prohibitionists

END OF MOST BITTER FIGHT

Half Century "Drouth" May Be Broken by Amendment to the Constitution

Issues of Election.

- Three questions Maine is deciding today:
- Shall constitution be amended to abrogate and annul the twenty-sixth amendment, prohibiting manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor?
- Shall constitution be amended to provide that "Augusta is hereby declared to be seat of government of the state?"
- Shall all nominations of candidates for state and county offices, including United States senator, congressman and member after be made at and by primary elections?

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—Maine, which for four years more than half a century has been the rock ribbed stronghold of prohibition, is today voting to decide whether its constitutional edict, made in 1884, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the borders of the Pine Tree state shall be repealed.

From ten to sixteen counties of the state today came returns on early voting indicating that the anti-prohibitionists tonight will be counted victorious after one of the bitterest political fights in Maine's history—a fight more strenuous even than one recently when the sturdy way-down-easters turned democracy.

From the early vote and from virtual admissions by even prohibitionist leaders and papers, the results before noon presaged the repeal of the prohibitory amendment by counties as follows: Penobscot, Waldo, Kennebec, Androscoggin, Sagadahoc, Knox, York, Cumberland, Franklin and Hancock. In the early hours the much mooted "silent vote" failed to materialize. Leaders on both sides, however, said they looked forward to this afternoon and that much depends upon the silent vote.

By the same indications the prohibitionists expected to carry the following counties: Washington, Aroostook, Piscataquis, Somerset and Oxford.

The other questions pending are whether the constitution shall be amended as proposed by resolution of the legislature providing that "Augusta is hereby declared the seat of government of this state," the establishment of direct primaries and a local question as to whether towns of 40,000 or over may be allowed to increase their indebtedness. The Augusta proposal is designed to prevent the removal of the capital from that city.

The weather will be unsettled but generally fair in this section tonight and Tuesday with somewhat lower temperature Tuesday.

There will be no material change in the river stages during the next 48 hours.

It doesn't hurt to acknowledge that you're a little depleted—but that doesn't mean down and out!

TOM MORRIS STOPS THE BIG FIGHT

Wires Sheriff to Prevent Wolgast Battle

IS ACTING GOVERNOR

Chief Executive During Absence of Francis E. McGovern

MINISTERS RESPONSIBLE

Milwaukee Clergy Started Clamor for the Decision

The Wolgast-McFarland prize fight scheduled to take place at Milwaukee Friday, for the lightweight championship of the world, will not occur.

Hopes of the fight fans that the match could be pulled off quietly and without intervention on the part of the county or state authorities were sent glimmering when Acting Governor Thomas Morris sent the following telegram from La Crosse to Sheriff William A. Arnold of Milwaukee county:

"Mr. William A. Arnold, Sheriff of Milwaukee Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

"Dear Sir:

"I am informed that a prize fight is advertised to take place in Milwaukee next Friday evening. The statutes of Wisconsin prohibit prize fighting. As sheriff of Milwaukee county it is your duty to enforce the law. I expect you to see that it is obeyed.

"Very truly yours,

"THOMAS MORRIS," Acting Governor."

Creates Great Stir

Sporting men throughout the state were confident that the bout would take place, but agitation among the Milwaukee clergy resulted in the rendering of an adverse opinion by the district attorney Milwaukee county and this morning's telegram of Mr. Morris.

The announcement of Morris has thrown Milwaukee sporting circles into an uproar but Frank Mulken, promoter of the bout, today defiantly announced that the match would be held.

"We are entirely within the law," was the declaration of Mulken.

Harlow See, president of the National Athletic club, joined with Promoter Mulken in Milwaukee today in declaring the match would surely occur.

Many Seats Sold

Over $25,000 worth of seats and reserved seats are now sold for the match and despite the controversy now raging Lightweight Champion Wolgast continued his training at the Wolgast training quarters throughout the day yesterday.

Already Declared Illegal

Prior to Gov. Morris' telegram, District Attorney Zabel, Milwaukee county, had ruled that the fight was contrary to law and had advised Sheriff Arnold that it was his duty to see that the match was not held.

Sheriff Arnold is quoted in Milwaukee as saying that the bout will not occur if he can possibly prevent.

Jack Welsh, the San Francisco fight referee, appeared in Milwaukee late yesterday ready to officiate Friday night. Welsh's appearance was unexpected, it is said, inasmuch as serious opposition to his services had been made by Emil Thiery, manager of McFarland, and that Promoter Mulken told the coast official Saturday not to start for Milwaukee until notified by him pending a settlement with Thiery.

Morris to State Fair

The law on the subject provides imprisonment for the participants of not less than one year and not more than five years in the state penitentiary.

Mr. Morris expects to leave La Crosse Tuesday night for Milwaukee and will remain in that city throughout the state fair, according to present plans.

Mr. Morris will be acting governor of the state during the absence of Francis E. McGovern, who is attending the convention of Governors being held in New Jersey.

BURNS! SOFT! COAL

Without Smoke or Soot. A strong statement to make for any stove but one that is easily proven with The 20th CENTURY LAUREL HEATER—the pioneer soft coal burning stove.

The great objection against the burning of soft coal has been the black sooty smoke. This heater does not produce black sooty smoke and as soft coal gives as much heat as hard coal, it is the equal of a base burner in heat comfort and cleanliness.

Think of what you save on coal bills by using soft coal, Lignite or slack.

Come in and let us explain how the coal is consumed without giving off smoke. Let us show you the patented device for adding new fuel to the fire, that prevents soot or dirt from escaping into the room; how the mica in the door is kept clean and bright.

The illustration gives you some impression of the beauty of this wonderful heater. Wearing or heating qualities and strength have not been omitted at the expense of beauty in this heater—

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place," is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true. If no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, O. T. Erhart, 520 Main street.

MAY BE REAL STORY OF BEATTIE MURDER

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 11.—The story of an alleged eye witness to the Beattie murder, said to have been told to Special Prosecutor Wendenburg after the state closed its case, and therefore too late for presentation at the trial, is one that stamps the convicted murderer as a man of unspeakable brutality. The name of the witness is being withheld, but he is represented to be a farm hand employed by a farmer living near the scene of the murder on the Middlethian turnpike.

According to the letter, as given out by Mr. Wendenburg, the alleged witness states that he was about to go to bed when he heard that one of the cows on the farm was missing and went to hunt it up in the woods alongside the turnpike. Arriving at the roadside, he heard angry voices, and stepping behind a tree, witnessed the alleged crime.

According to the letter, the wife pleaded with young Beattie until finally she became mad and said, "Well, how are you going to end it?" He got out of the machine and walked to the side of the road and when he returned he was carrying a shot gun. It is alleged that he hit his wife over the right side of the head with the gun and that she fell into the road on her face. Then it is alleged Beattie shot her.

Realizing the seriousness of his own position, the new witness stepped out and confronted Beattie and was himself held at bay at the gun's point. Beattie said, "What are you going to do about it?" Under the circumstances the alleged witness could do nothing. Then came the proposition from Beattie of a financial consideration if he would leave the vicinity. The next day some money was given him and a railway ticket purchased to a distant point.

HIRE A LAWYER

Get a lawyer to represent the people of Wisconsin at the Stephenson hearing.

This is the case of the people against the Marinette senator. He will be represented by the ablest legal talent money can retain. His lawyers will attempt to put in operation all the technical legal machinery the purpose of which is to KEEP OUT THE LIGHT, TO SUP-PRESS THE FACTS.

WHO IS GOING TO REPRESENT
THE PEOPLE?

The committee before which the hearing will be had may be expected to sympathize with the effort to suppress damaging facts. At least some of its members did so when,
as a committee, they sat on the Lorimer case and reported, in the face of damaging evidence, that he was guiltless. They even went onto the floor of the senate and fought for his acquittal.

This committee is empowered to say what evidence shall be introduced and what excluded. What do you think it will do in the Stephenson case?

The Tribune predicts that, no matter what the evidence, the committee's attitude will not be found inconsistent with its attitude in the Lorimer case. However, with a good attorney to marshal the facts, the hearing can be made to result in a verdict in accord with the evidence
being handed down by a higher court than this committee of the United States senate. THE COURT
OF PUBLIC OPINION WILL PASS
UPON MR. STEPHENSON'S CON-DUCT.

It is our opinion that the services of Mr. Brandels, the lawyer who represented Glavis in the Ballinger
trial, should be secured if possible.
He is a man of power, and a patriot. He has had wide experience in matters of this kind. His retainer would result in valuable service
to the country.

Mr. Brandels's patriotism has impelled him to appear in many similar cases for modest compensation,
and even without compensation.
However, the people of Wisconsin

are able to pay for services rendered, and while the law provides no means of meeting this expense out of moneys raised by taxation, we believe the men who are identified with the movement for good government in this state would welcome an opportunity to contribute to so good a cause. Quick action is necessary. Who will start the only honest "Stephenson fund" ever raised in the Badger state?

"WOT DO THEY UNDERSTAND?"

The vicissitudes of John Jacob Astor and Madeline Force seem justly visited upon them. The rally of the ridal crowd lacks the dignity with which those who earnestly deprecate the "match" would convey their protest, but the resentment of this better class is necessarily un-demonstrative. Therefore the jeers and stare of the morbidly curious furnishes the only agency by which
that portion of society not intimate
with the "400" is able to witness
some measure of justice done to a bad old man and a foolish young woman who, in defiance to social standards and the laws of nature, are entering upon a career calculated to bring them neither happiness nor honor. The cat-calls of the mob are a form of annoyance which such people doubtless are capable of experiencing; the quiet contempt of a nation is a thing the sting of which they cannot feel, the meaning of which they cannot understand.

APPRECIATE OUR UNIVERSITY

The fight which the Free Press, Senator Stephenson's newspaper, has been making against the state university has fallen flat. It was understood throughout the state from the first to be just what it was—an attempt to cripple the usefulness of a president and faculty that cannot be put to commercial uses by our financial brigandage, or induced to silence upon topics in relation to which "big business" has a peculiar interest.

Our university has attracted the attention of scholars at home and abroad, and it is spoken of oftener
than any other as the leading institution of learning, the ideal university. Ambassador Bryce is one who so es-teems it, and other notables too
numerous to mention have expressed the same thought. The latest of these is Prof. L. T. Hobhouse of London (England) university, who recently said:

"University life bids fair to become a far more important factor in the public opinion of America than it has ever been in this country. To find a parallel to it we should have to go to Germany. This is partly due to the very large numbers of students. I have no complete figures, but four or five thousand students in a university is no uncommon number and there are many universities
of a high, and several of the first,
order in the union. In a single state
like Wisconsin, with a small population, the university numbers some five thousand students, men and women. A great many of these are at work in the more practical and technical faculties, as those of agriculture and commerce. But the education in these faculties is of a liberal order. It stands close to the practical career of the student, and at the same time broadens this view of his work and acquaints him, on the one side, with the scientific theory underlying his technic, on the other side
with its economic, social, and, one may say, its ethical bearings. The students of these schools easily obtain responsible positions in the business world, and I have had testimony quite independent of the professoriate to the effect of the introduction of the university training in improving not merely the efficiency
but the morality of business."

Those Who Accept It

We are so positive our remedy will

Freda
Life doesn't seem the same to us
Since Freda went away,
We talk about it every night
And also every day.
The kitchen seems a cheerless place;
We hate to turn the knob
And look into that lonesome waste,
Since Freda yumped her yob.

We miss our Freda dreadfully,
In fact for her we pine.
Her English was distressing, but
Her breakfast rolls were fine.
And now we sit and think of her,
And in our throats a sob
Of sorrow rises at the thought
That Freda yumped her yob.

She won't come back. She's married now.
She thinks she's better off.
Perhaps she is—at any rate,
It does no good to scoff.
But every time I think of her,
Our sad hearts give a throb.
It makes no difference in our house
Since Freda yumped her yob.

Being an Editor Easy as Can Be

Most anyone can be an editor. All an editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days out of a week, four weeks out of a month, and twelve months out of a year and "edit"
the likes of this:
Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek, let
a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry.
A mischievous lad of Picketown,
threw a stone and stuck Mr. Pike
in the alley Wednesday.
John Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch.

While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from a church
social last Saturday night, a savage
dog attacked them and bit Mr.
Green several times on the public square.

Isiah Trimmer of Running Creek, was playing with a cat Friday, when the cat scratched him on the veranda.
Mr. Fong, while harnessing a bronco last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corn crib. — Exchange.

Not a Serious Drawback

"There's only one objection to these apartments," said the agent of the building. "From these two windows you can't help seeing everything in the diningrooms of the neighbors on both side of you."
"What's the rental?" smilingly
asked the portly dame who was looking for a flat.—Chicago Tribune.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Distinguished Gentleman from
New York.
Meantime, the Countess St. Au-han, innocent of these plans which had gone forward regarding her,
completed her attendance at the entertainment which the evening was offering the elite of Washington,
and in due time arrived at the entrance of her hotel. She found the private entrance tonight occupied by the usual throng, but hurried from the carriage step across the pavement and through the open door.

She made no ordinary picture now
as she approached the brighter
lights of the interior. Her garb, cut in that fashion which gave so scant aid to nature's outlines, was widely though not extremely hooped,
the fabric of daintily flowered
silk. As she pushed back the deep,
double fronted dolman which served
her for a wrap, her shoulders
showed white and beautiful, as also the round column of her neck,
shadowed only by one long drooping
curl, and banded by a gleaming circle of many colored gems. Her dark hair, though drawn low upon the temples in acknowledgment of the prevailing mode, was bound in fashion of her own by a gem-clasped,
golden fillet, under which it broke into a riot of lesser curls which swept over ears and temples. Here and there a gleaming jewel confined some such truant lock, so that she glittered, half-barbaric, as she walked, surmounted by a thousand trembling points of light. Ease, confidence, carelessness seemed spoken alike by the young woman's half haughty carriage and her rich costuming. Midway in the twenties
of her years, she was just above
slightness. Just above medium height. The roundness of shoulder and arm, thus revealed, bespoke soundness and wholesome-ness beyond callowness, yet with no hint of years or bulk. Her hair certainly was dark and luxuriant, her eyes
sleazy were large and dark without doubt shaded by long and level brows. The nose was not too highly arched any more than it was pinched and meager—indeed, a triumph in noses, since not too strong,
nor yet indicating a physique weak
and ill nourished.

Rare Presence of Mind

It was the second annual concert
of the Slowcombe Philharmonic society, and the young man who came from the city was obviously bored.

At last one singer tried him more than usual. Lines of pain showed on his face as he leaned forward to express himself audibly to his elderly neighbor, for the young man, being musical, felt the need of sympathy.
"Did you ever hear, in the whole
course of your experience," he whispered in disgust, "such horribly discordant, ear-splitting—"

The old gentleman frowned—
"That's my daughter, sir, and if

But the young man waved aside
the interruption, and with scarcely a tremor went on:

"Such ear-splitting clatter as these idiots behind us are making? Really,
I can scarcely catch one word of the song!"—London Answers.

Well on the Road to Recovery

There are certain traits which distinguish Miss Amanda Lowry from most of her neighbors, and although not all of them were admirable traits
they were Miss Amanda's and therefore accepted lovingly by her friends.
When she was taken suddenly ill
with pneumonia the village was in great distress.

"I want to see her just a minute,"
said a tearful friend, "and she scarcely looked at me. I don't think she really sensed I was there. But yet they say she's a mite better, if she can only get some strength into her, she's so weak."

A few days later, still tearful, but joyous the same friend made a more encouraging report.

"She looked at me, Amanda, did,
where I sat, way across the room, and then she beckoned to me. 'You go
take a look at yourself in the glass,'
she said, 'and tell me if you've got your brooch on straight. It looks cantled to the left, to me.'"

"And 'twas!" said the neighbor,
wiping her eyes. "She could hardly speak above a whisper, but when I'd straightened it she said, 'That's all right,' and turned over and went to sleep. She's going to get well!"
—Youth's Companion.

Not in His Line

"Waiter!" called the guest at the East Sixth street cafe who had just changed his mind. "Waiter!"

"Yessir?" replied the waiter, rushing back to the table.

"Make that chop a steak, will you?"

"Sir," answered the waiter, "I am
a waiter, not a magician."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE PURCHASE PRICE
An American Novel.

EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1910, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

The gentleman from Kentucky
rose as he spoke and, adroit in managing men, reached out his hand as though to take the other's and so to clench the matter. Yet his heart leaped in surprise—surprise which did not leave him wholly clear as to the other's motives—
when the latter met his hand with
so hearty a grasp of affirmation.
"It should not be so difficult," he said. "It is only a case of logical argument. It is long since I have addressed the people, or addressed a body, but I shall try my skill once more tonight! All that is necessary is to explain to this young lady that our political ambitions are quite the same, and that I might be of service
did we share the same public
means of travel in a journey already planned by both. I was intending a visit to Europe this very summer."

"Sir, there is no other man owner
both of the skill and courage to handle this matter. I hesitated to put it before you, but the method you suggest seems almost plausible. I trust you to make it appear wholly
so to the fair lady herself."

"We might be younger and fare
better at that sort of thing."

"Altogether to the contrary, my friend! Do not mistake this lady.
Youth would be an absolute bar to success. Age, dignity, a public reputation such as yours—these are the only things which by any possibility could gain success; and frankly, even these may fail. At least,
I honestly wish you success, and there has been no jest in what I said about the support of Mr. Fillmore's family and his party. You know that there is honesty even in politics, sometimes; and there is silence, I promise that. Take my advice. Put her in a sack, drop her overboard in mid-ocean. In return,
all I ask of you is not to throw overboard the sack anywhere close to this country's shore! It was done once before, on the Ohio river, but the sack was not tied tightly enough. Here she is again! Wherefore, have a care with your sack
strings, I beseech you."

"Louis, my hat; and get a carriage! Have a second carriage waiting here at once."

Vital, self-confident, a trifle foreign, certainly distinguished, at first there might have seemed a trace of defiance in the carriage,
even in the glance of Josephine St.
Auban. But a second look into the wide dark eyes would have found
there rather a trace of pathos, bordering upon melancholy; and the lines of the mouth, strongly curved,

would in all likelihood have gained
that sympathy demanded by the eyes, betokening a nature warm and noble, not yet so mean, and certainly not insignificant.

Such was the woman of the hour
in Washington, lately frowned on by the ladies as too beautiful, talked about by the gentlemen as too cold, discussed by some, adored by others, understood by none, dreaded
by some high in power, plotted against by others yet more high in place.

She cast a hurried glance now at the clock which, tall and solemn,
stood near by in the hall. It was upon the stroke of midnight only.
Turning half questioningly to her maid, she heard a footfall. The manager of the hotel himself came to greet her, carrying a card in his hand, and with a bow, asking her attention.

"Well, then," began the young woman in perfect English, glancing at the card. Her dark eyes rose to meet his. "It is impossible," she said. "You know my wishes very well."

"But, my dear Countess, have you noted this name?" began the manager.

"Of course, I know it. All the more reason there should be a mistake."

"But I assure you, my dear Countess—"

A step sounded near by, and the curtains swung back, disclosing the entrance to one of the adjoining parlors of the hotel. The figure of a well-built and hale gentleman, past middle age, of dignified carriage
and pleasant features, was revealed.
Half hesitating, he advanced.
"My dear lady," he began, in a deep and melodious voice, "I come to you doubly handicapped, both as intruder and eavesdropper. I could not avoid hearing what you have said, and as listeners hear no good
of themselves, I venture to interrupt. I am anxious that your first impression of me should be a good one, Madam!"

MAROONS READY
FOR TRAINING

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Football
preparations calling for all grades
of mental and physical ginger are busy the brains and muscles of the 1911 aspirants for laurels at the University of Chicago. The Maroon
warriors and hopefuls are loosening
up their joints and ideas in Summer resorts and backyards against the approach of the official opening practice date, September 20, at Marshall Field.

Coach Stagg's athletes have been sending reports of their activities to the Midway camp, and the majority of them are ready to jump into harness in hardened condition for the first workout. They have been toughening themselves up with all varieties of vacation "stunts" and should be in fine shape to batter the coach's
favorite tackling dummy by the end of the month.

"Pat" Page, who will be one of Coach Stagg's helpers this year, is spending a couple of weeks at Paw Paw lakes, and Coach Walter Stef-fon is also rusticating. Captain Rademacher has been keeping down
his weight at Clinton, Ill., and will foregather in Chicago with the coaching staff by the end of this week.

PLEASANT COFFEE

Mrs. J. A. Bartl was hostess at a charming coffee Friday afternoon.
Numerous vases and baskets filled with flowers were used throughout

inating color, which blended beautifully with the other decorations.
The invited guests were: Mrs. F.
A. Ganter, Schuster, Grams, Schlei-
ter, J. F. Bartl, E. C. Bartl, Hauser, Frazer, A. J. Loeffler, Boehm, Bessie Beck and Miss Boehm of

HEALTH TALK No. 6

Why is disease so common and perfect health so rare?
Why do we find so many specimens of perfect health
among the animals, while, to a great extent, it is lacking in mankind? All forms of animal life live about eight times their period of maturity except man, who drops into his grave (while yet in his youth) at the average age of forty.

There is something radically wrong in this set of conditions. Do you want to know why this is the case?

We do not give enough thought to the quality of our food, and to what kind of material will bring mankind to the highest state of mental, physical development.

About one-third of our diet is composed of wheat in the form of bread, pastry, etc.

It is, therefore, very logical that we should devote at least a little thought to what goes to make up such a large portion of our food.

If our food is deficient in any nutrient, our growth will be deficient in the same respect. If the flour that you use has been improperly milled, your bread will lack those properties which are essential to building up the worn out tissues of the body.

What you want for health is a flour that is made from the wheat just as it was grown by nature, then you are sure of having bread that will meet all the requirements of the body.

MARVEL Flour is the one to ask for to get these results.

MARVEL Flour is for sale by all first-class grocers.

Yours for better bread,

THE HEALTH MAN.

"Bartl" Beer

It's Good For You

Beer provides the greatest amount of nourishment with the least exertion on the digestive and nervous system. That is why the doctor prescribes beer for nursing mothers, convalescents and the aged.

Beer is next to milk in food value.

Beer is the purest, cleanest liquid food made.

Beer is the finest tonic known. Adds zest to every meal; sharpens the appetite; aids in the digestion of the solid foods.

The small amount of alcohol in Beer (only 3.6 per cent) is a force producer to the extent of twice its weight; imparts energy, vim, vigor to convalescents and the aged.

STRIKE DEPENDS ON BENEFITS QUESTION

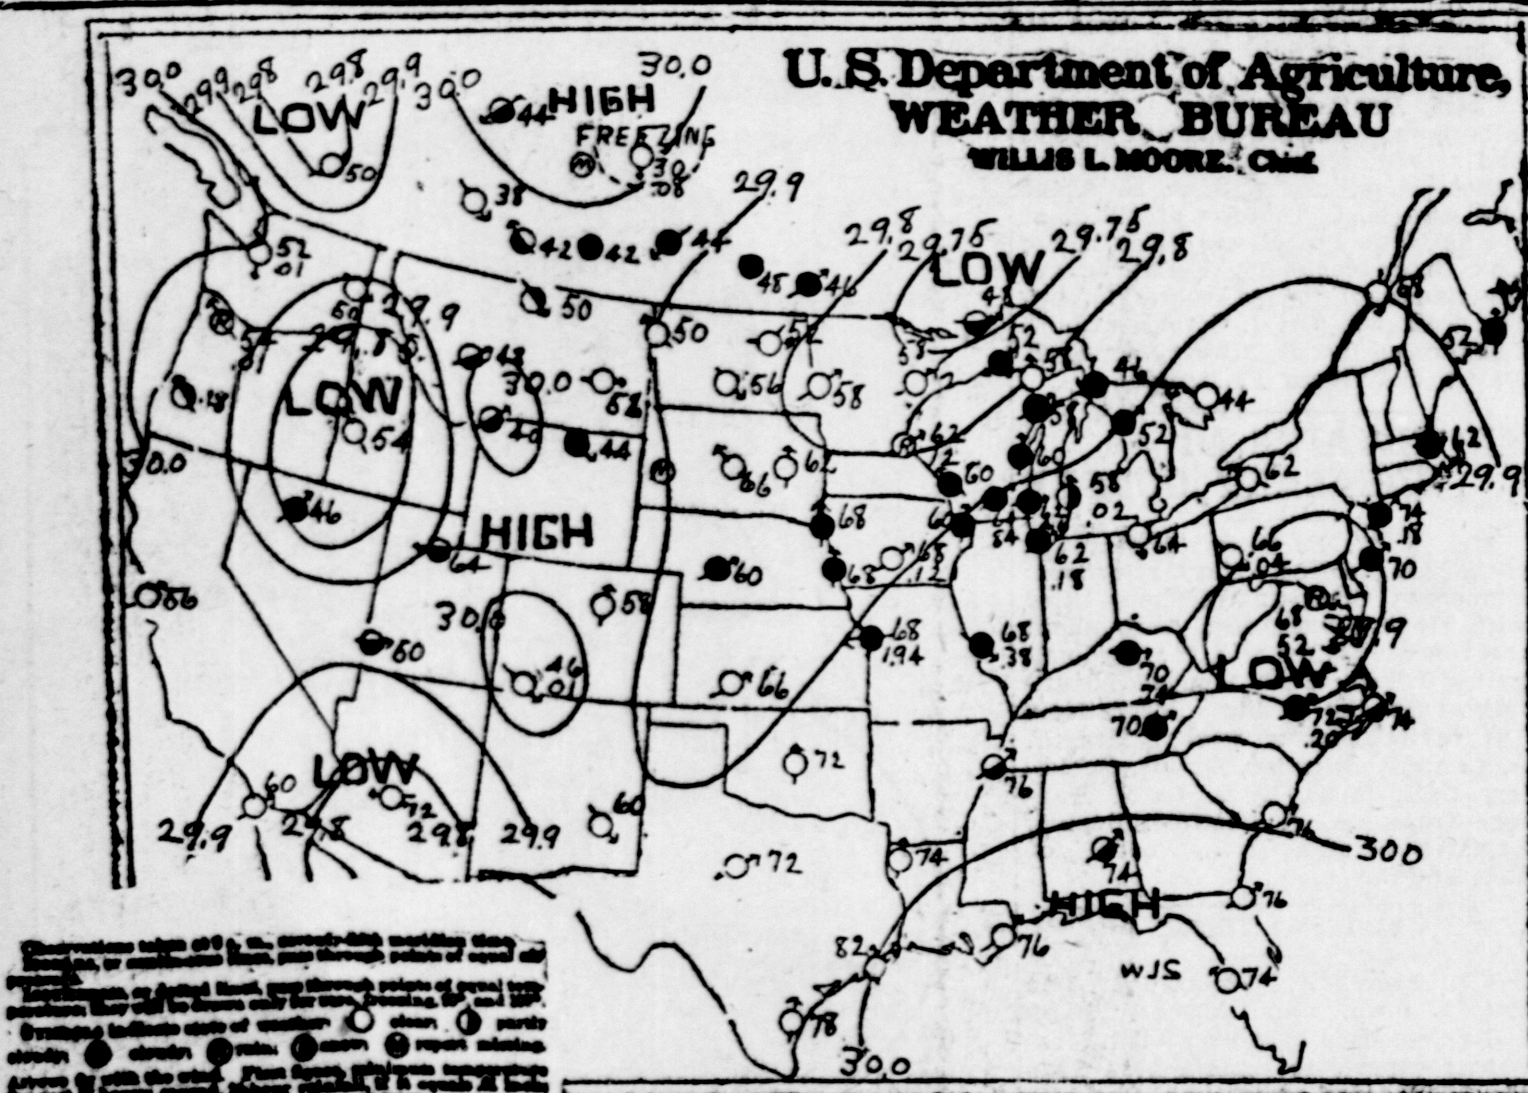

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—A new turn was given the Illinois Central strike situation when it was announced today that the decision of the machinists' union as to paying strike benefits would be given out in Davenport, Iowa, before night. A part of the executive committee met here yesterday to decide the matter. On their action it was admitted the calling of a strike largely rested. Without announcing the action taken, the officers left late last night for Davenport, where their annual convention is in session.

The matter will there be taken up by the full committee and it was intimated that if there were any disagreement among the members it might go before the convention.

Playing the game both ends from the middle is treading the perilous path!

WILL ORGANIZE SCOUT COUNCIL

Citizens Decide on Plan at Meeting in Y. M. C. A.
Saturday Night;
Many Attend

At a meeting of twenty-three prominent La Crosse citizens, held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening, it was definitely decided to form a scout council of representative business and professional men to take charge of the work of the Boy Scouts in La Crosse. A committee of three, comprising Mayor Dengler, Rev. G. R. Longbrake and Boys' Secretary Carl F. Ogden, was selected to choose the members of the scout council and to report before the dinner of the board of trade Tuesday evening.

F. A. Crosby, Chicago, one of the men at the head of the Boy Scout movement, who is fresh from organizing a scout council at Viroqua, was present at the meeting, and delivered a stereopticon lecture on the methods and aims of the boy scout work.

Features Lacking

Mr. Crosby laid special stress on the lack of military features in the work of the scouts, explaining that the only drill was that essential to good carriage and good health, and the only discipline that ruled the scouts was the orders of the scout master. Mr. Crosby also showed and explained pictures which illustrated the instruction of the scouts in first aid to the injured.

The scout council will have charge of the work of the scout patrols, or units of the Boy Scout organization. Any school or church, or other organization can form a patrol of its own, each being separate from the other in its work. A patrol is formed of eight boys and the scout master whom they select. Three patrols form a troop. The scout master is an adult acquainted with the lines of endeavor of the scouts. A secretary of the city scout council will be appointed to inform himself on the methods of work, and to secure experts in each line to teach the boys the different departments of scout work.

Following are the names of those present at the meeting: County Judge John Brindley, Dr. J. W. Hedderich, Congressman John J. Esch, Rev. W. A. Billings, Rev. W. B. Christy, F. G. Carter, City Attorney A. H. Schubert, Horton Kline, Alfred James, Rev. Henry Faville, Rev. E. O. Smith, Mayor John Dengler, E. S. Hebbard, Rev. A. V. Ingham, S. A. Boyd, Paul T. Schulze, A. C. Gran, Rev. George R. Langbrake, Rev. D. C. Jones, L. Golden, Carl Ogden, Frank Rand and Charles H. Cowles.

SUGAR FOLLOWS THE COW OVER THE MOON

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—An extraordinary jump in the price of refined sugar was announced here today by the American Sugar Refining company and Arbuckle Brothers, the largest distributors in the country. The American advanced its price to $6.70 per hundred while the Arbuckle raise is 20 points in the market to seven cents per pound.

Dealers in staples anticipate further increases in prices and it is reported that retailers are preparing to raise their prices to eight cents a pound early next week. No reason for the rise is assigned.

BREAKS RIBS IN FALL

While shaking the top of a walnut tree on a nutting expedition in Minnesota, Frank Sieber, 933 Island street, a tinner at Prafflin & Manke's, fell from the tree and broke two ribs. He was carried to his home, and is reported to be improving rapidly.

GENIUS IS NOT INHERITED

Meet Poets Who Have Had Sons Did Not Transmit Divine Inflatus to Them.

An examination of the question of the transmission of genius from father to son would seem to indicate that the sons of great poets are generally "dull dogs." The most eminent English poets had no sons, or lost them early; and the same observation is true of American poets also.

Poetic fever may be a flame that burns out in its own generation. Often the poet seems to put so much into his work as to sacrifice his paternity, and often, alas, the professional poet is too poor to marry at all. However that may be, many English poets are quit of the charge of begetting "dull dogs" of sons, for they never had any sons. Cowley, Butler, Otway, Prior, Congreve, Gay, Phillips, Savage, Thomson, Collins, Shenstone, Akenside, Goldsmith, Gray and Johnson all died without leaving offspring, and Marlowe, Pope, Keats, Swift, Watts and Cowper never married.

There are cases on the other side. Coleridge's son, Hartley, was a poet of respectable ability; all the Tennysons wrote poetry, so did all the Rossettis, father and children; Addison's father was a writer of some importance although Addison's descendants did not pass into the second generation. The same is true of Dryden's descendants. Milton's family and Shakespeare's became extinct in the second and third generation. Sir Walter Scott's baronetcy expired with his son.

CASCARETS CURE A BILIOUS HEADACHE

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels and You Feel Great by Morning

You're bilious, you have a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10 cent box from your druggist will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

SIN NEVER WILL BRING MAN PEACE

History of the World Disproves Theory, Declares
Rev. Oscar Smith in Sermon

Declaring that sin cannot bring peace, the Rev. Oscar Smith of the West Ave. M. E. church, delivered his last sermon before attending the Methodist conference, Sunday.

Rev. Smith reviewed biblical stories in substantiation of his assertion.

"Eve thought sin could, but instead it threw her out of the beautiful garden. A lake may be clear in calm weather but let a storm lash the mud from the bottom and all will be filthy. The man who has the mud of shame in his heart may be happy sometimes but let a storm come and, his peace vanishes—his soul writhes in pain."

"Solomon tells us the story of a strange woman. She sees an empty headed man coming, and calls to him. 'Here! Right in here for a good time! Stolen waters are sweet, and bread eaten in secret is pleasant.' But after she is done with him and throws him out, he finds himself in Hell. The world too offers its cup of peace to the inexperienced multitudes. The first sip, indeed is sweet, but presently the honey is drained and the dregs are gall."

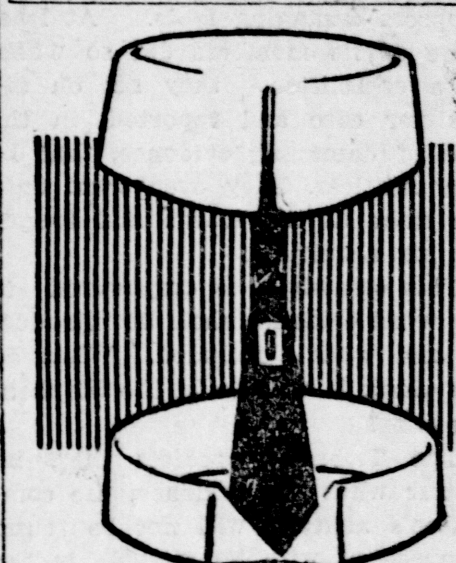

"Money cannot bring happiness," he pointed out. "It is the bread of the miser and when he eats he suffers untold torture."

UNION MEN BELIEVE STRIKE INEVITABLE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 11.—With practically all hope of averting a strike on the Harriman railroads abandoned, the international officers and the advisory committee of the five shop unions involved in the strike here today held their final informal conference here during the day before starting eastward by various routes tonight. On the way officers will consult with the members of the various locals preparatory to calling a general shopmen's strike in the near future.

This strike is expected to be ordered very soon after the union leaders reach home. The net result of the three days' conference at San Francisco was the strengthening of the unionists' determination not to recede from their demand for recognition of the system federation by the Harriman railroads. On the other hand they don't expect Vice President Julius Kruttschnitt from his position and believe that a walk out of union men is inevitable.

DR. FURSTMAN'S QUESTION BOX

Would a tuberculosis sanatorium be a good investment for La Crosse county?—A Taxpayer.

In the twelve months of 1910 there were 593 deaths in La Crosse county; 49 of these deaths were due to tuberculosis, or one out of every twelve. No other disease caused so many.

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale has estimated that each death due to tuberculosis costs the community $8,000 in loss of wages, cost of illness, institutional care of the patient and further care of the orphans and widows after patients' death.

Figuring as Prof. Irving Fisher does, $8,000 per death, there was a loss of $392,000 in La Crosse county in 1910 due to tuberculosis. The best authorities on tuberculosis are unanimous in agreeing that institutional care of advanced cases is imperative if the disease is to be wiped out. The patient in the last stage of tuberculosis is a constant menace to his family, friends and community. He manufactures new patients by his ignorance, carelessness, and sometimes impotency to protect his fellow men.

Such patients will be cared for in county sanatoriums as are proposed. There are in La Crosse county 245 consumptives. Each incipient case becomes an advanced case unless cared for. Each advanced case becomes a center of infection and disease spreading.

The county sanatorium will care for these advanced cases, thereby protecting the families, neighbors and community of the patient. The machine that manufactures tuberculosis patients will be seriously crippled.

It is the duty of every citizen interested in the welfare of his family, his city, his state, to support the county sanatorium project. Tell your county board members you are interested, that you favor the expenditure of this money, that you think it good business policy to spend $10,000 in an effort to stop an annual loss of 392,000. Stop that leak.

LUNCHEONS

Mrs. J. A. Bartl, 1515 State street, was hostess at a delightful 4 o'clock luncheon Friday afternoon. The rooms had been transferred into a lovely bower of autumn flowers, yellow prevailing throughout. Baskets, vases and huge jars were brought into use and golden rod, brown eyed Susans and other fall blossoms of a brilliant yellow hue filled every conceivable niche and corner. The serving table was beautifully appointed continuing the yellow color scheme. A tall cut glass vase of yellow marguerites centered the table on a rich chumy cloth showing the polished service beneath. At either end were candelabra holding yellow tapers and at each plate an individual candlestick blinking its yellow eye. Covers were laid for twelve. Miss Julia Miller assisted in the serving. The guests were Mesdames F. A. Gantert, George F. Hauser, A. J. Loeffler, W. B. Fraser, Henry N. Boehm, J. Schleiter, E. C. Bartl, J. F. Bartl, W. K. Schuster, August Grams, Miss Bessie Beck and Miss Margaret Boehm of Milwaukee.

Carried Too Far.

Jerome S. McWade, the millionaire collector of Duluth, discussed, on the Narragansett beach, the trend of modern fiction.

"Modern fiction is charitable to women," he said slowly. "Perhaps it is too charitable to women. Wells and Galsworthy and Bernard Shaw are not content with letting the women go as far as the men—they let them go farther than the men."

"They are as unduly charitable as a Duluth chap who got himself engaged to a notorious flirt."

"Why, Horace," said a friend, "you ain't engaged to Minnie Manners, are you?"

"Yes, I am," said Horace stoutly.

"Why, Horace, that girl's been engaged, off and on, to nearly every man in Duluth."

"Well," said Horace, charitably, "Duluth ain't such a big place."

Mechanical Education for Girls.

"No girl can consider herself educated today if she cannot drive a nail or put a hinge on a door." Miss Mary Snow, superintendent of household arts for the public schools of Chicago, made this assertion in a talk on "Training for Girls."

"I consider this mechanical knowledge a necessity," said Miss Snow. "Many women when confronted with the stupendous problem of coaxing a nail into a board would rather telephone the chief of police or the board of education for help. Generally they enlist the janitor or the hired man. It is a deficiency in their education."

Methodist Episcopal Church Meet Taxes Sparta Hotel Accommodations; Noted Speakers to Talk

SPARTA, Wis., Sept. 11.—The quadrennial session of the West Wisconsin conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will convene in Sparta commencing on Sept. 13 and continue until Sept. 18. The hotel accommodations are already exhausted and private families are being called upon to furnish quarters for the coming guests. It is expected that about 400 ministers, laymen, delegates and visitors will be in attendance.

The program arranged for contains addresses by many personages of nation wide reputation, such as John G. Wooley, temperance lecturer; Rev. David G. Downey, corresponding secretary, Board of Sunday schools; Mrs. H. L. Hill, New York city; Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, Chicago; Franklin Hamilton, chancellor of the American university, Washington; Fayette L. Thompson, general secretary Methodist Brotherhood and Bishop John J. H. Hamilton of Boston, Mass.

The sessions open with an examination of candidates on Tuesday. On Wednesday morning the roll of delegates will be called and the conference formally organized. Several matters of importance are to be discussed and acted upon, the principal of which, besides, of course, the announcing of assignments for the next year, will be the changing of the La Crosse and Eau Claire districts and appointing new superintendents in each case.

WITNESSES READY FOR INVESTIGATION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 11.—When the committee of the United States senate appointed to investigate the election of Senator Isaac Stephenson meets in the clubrooms of the Hotel Pfister on Oct. 2, to begin the investigation, there will be a dozen witnesses ready to be put on the grill.

Among those who will face the committee the first two days will be John H. Puellicher and C. C. Weyland of Milwaukee, Rodney Sackett of Berlin, T. A. Edmonds of Appleton, and Henry J. Overbeck of Sturgeon Bay.

It is the intention to have five witnesses present for each day during which the committee sits, so long as it is in session. How long that will be is something no one, not even members of the committee, knows at the present time. If the investigation is confined to the election of Senator Stephenson the committee may not be in session after Oct. 31. On the other hand, should the committee extend the scope of the investigation, the committee may be here when the snow flies. In such case the investigation would be continued in Washington.

MOROCCAN AFFAIR AT DANGER POINT

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Though the nature of Germany's counter proposals to France concerning the Moroccan situation remains secret, it is generally believed that they have increased the tension which is now considered to be near the danger line. One version is that Germany demands a Congo outlet by way of the Sangar river, the "most favored nation treatment" in Morocco, forty per cent instead of twenty of all Moroccan public contracts as specified by the Algeiras treaty, and that France become responsible for the Moroccan government. It is a foregone conclusion that France will refuse. French Ambassador to England Paul Cambon has been hastily summoned to Paris for a conference.

EXTENSION WORK TO BENEFIT ALL

Roseman Outlines Courses to Be Given Public in Branch Established in La Crosse

UNIVERSITY CREDITS GIVEN

Work in Extension Course, Taken at Home, Receives University Credit Toward Degree

The object of the university of Wisconsin in carrying on extension work, is to serve the citizens of the commonwealth who are unable to attend established educational institutions, to stimulate and guide them in the pursuit of a higher and more effective education, to enable them to achieve more nearly the best things in life of which they are capable—in short, to build up an institution which will reach every person in the state, rich or poor, who desires to partake of its many benefits.

The constant aim of the university regents has been to make the university the center of every movement which concerns the interests of the state; to give every man a chance to get the highest education possible at the smallest practical cost, and to bring the university and the home into closer touch.

Has Broadened

Step by step the university has broadened its field. In 1856, women were admitted. In 1885, farmers' institutes were established in connection with its college of agriculture. A little later a short course in agriculture was provided. In 1898, the summer session was opened for the admission of those who had no time or means to enter as resident students for the long term. To this was added, in 1900, the summer school for artisans and apprentices. The culminating achievement is the establishment of the university extension division, through which practically all the courses, offered to resident students, can be pursued in absentia.

Through this new department, the university is reaching out a helping hand to every citizen—poor and rich alike. Those who cannot afford the time, or money, to go to Madison and do resident work, may pursue courses at home and receive university credit. It plans to add to the resources of life, of education and of industry; to give practical assistance to the farmer and mechanic; to the business man and the professional man; to the employer and to the employee; to teacher and student; to housekeeper and homemaker. There is scarcely a man or woman to whom the benefits of university extension work may not apply, but it is especially helpful; first, to those who are compelled to labor for daily subsistence, yet wish to advance themselves in their own lines of work; second, to the man too old to go to school who finds a need for more knowledge in his own profession, or who seeks to change his vocation; third, to the student who is preparing for college; fourth, to the student who wished to shorten his college course by doing part of it in absentia; fifth, to the teacher who finds new demands made upon her by the progressive requirements of education; sixth, to the young man or woman who wishes to prepare for a business career; seventh, to clubs and debating societies whose members desire to do systematic work under the direction of college professors; eighth, to the practical men in business, the professions and vocations, to those in fact to all who are eager for knowledge or advancement, and are reaching out for mental stimulus, and desire to keep abreast of the times.

To serve these needs, the university authorities have organized the extension division, which is divided into four departments, namely:

1. Department of correspondence study.
2. Department of instruction by lectures.
3. Department of debating and public discussion.
4. Department of general information and welfare.

In the correspondence department a large percentage of the courses which are offered to residents, students are, also, offered in absentia, and university credit allowed for the same. In addition to those regular courses, many special courses have been prepared to meet the needs of those employed in the shops and accounting houses.

The method of conducting this work is as follows:

Those who wish to enroll should call at the office of the university extension division, select the course, or courses desired, and fill an application blank. On receipt of the application, the first assignment will be sent, with subject outlines, instruction for study, methods of preparation, and directions for returning lessons. Each lesson will be carefully examined by the instructor under whom the course is pursued, and returned to the student with such corrections, explanations, and suggestions as may be needed. Lists of books, assignments for reading, and all necessary assistance will be furnished throughout the course, so that no student will be left without adequate aid and guidance. In case difficulties arise which are not covered by the explanation sheets, the student has the privilege of calling at the office of the U. W. extension division, and receive such additional assistance as may be necessary to clarify the difficulty experienced. In case a number enroll for the same courses, classes will be organized and met by university professors at stated times, thus, combining class instruction with correspondence in-

WRECK STARTS PANIC

ONE KILLED AND TEN INJURED WHEN MILWAUKEE STREET CAR TURNS OVER ON SIDE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 11.—One person was killed and at least ten seriously injured last night when a street car running at forty miles an hour struck an open switch and turned over on its side. The forty passengers were thrown into a confused mass and a panic followed.

Six Trainmen Hurt

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 11.—Four Northwestern railroad locomotives were reduced to junk and six trainmen injured, one perhaps fatally, early today when two engines running light collided head-on with a double header wrecking train in a heavy fog near Oakdale. The injured were brought to St. Agnes hospital here.

Fog Causes Wrecks

M'HENRY, Ill., Sept. 11.—One man was killed and six injured in two railroad wrecks on the Wisconsin division of the Chicago and Northwestern early today. Fog was responsible for both. Four of the six injured and the death was due to a collision two miles west of here. A wrecking train from Chicago crashed into an equipment train.

Half an hour later a passenger train from Duluth crashed into a Chicago local train near Crystal Lake, Ill.

BEATTIE WILL BE TAKEN TO RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 11.—Preparations for the transfer of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., convicted of wife murder, from the lonely jail at Chesterfield courthouse to the Richmond city jail were made today. It was expected that the young prisoner would be brought into his new quarters tomorrow.

A telegram was received by Mayor Richardson of this city signed "committee of St. Louis citizens," congratulating the state of Virginia on the verdict in the Beattie case, declaring that it showed "true citizenship and the southern determination to protect the sanctity of the home."

Counsel for Henry Beattie, Jr., and the commonwealth of Virginia this afternoon professed ignorance of a report from Atlanta, Ga., that Miss Hattie Barnett, a woman devotee, had left for Richmond to investigate some new features of the Beattie case.

Detective Scherer will leave for Chicago some time this week and expects to confer with the man there who wrote the prosecution that he was an eye witness of the murder of Mrs. Beattie. In the letter the man said he was paid $200 and given a suit of clothes by Beattie to keep the secret.

CHINESE TAIS SEE GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—No sooner had the Hai Chi, the first Chinese warship to visit this country, anchored off Seventieth street today than he 450 men were given shore leave and flocked to Broadway and Chinatown. The Hai Chi will remain here a week before visiting Philadelphia, Boston, Newport and Annapolis.

struction. The combined method is recommended, especially in the vocational and business subjects.

Correspondence Teaching

The possibility of teaching by correspondence has already been demonstrated by practical experiment, and with the additional feature, afforded by the University Extension division, of combining class instruction with correspondence instruction, excellent results should be expected. While such instruction lacks some of the advantages which resident study affords, it has compensating advantages of its own. In correspondence instruction, the teaching is personal and individual. Every student studies and recites the whole lesson, comes in contact with the teacher as an individual, and not as a member of a large class. The instruction is, therefore, very thorough. Correspondence study, furthermore, employs the spare time of the student, and gives him an interest besides his daily work. It can be done at home, and thereby brings into the home a new and enlarging influence. The character of the work is such that it throws a student upon his own resources and makes him self reliant and self determining.

The department of instruction by lectures, debating and public discussion, and general information and welfare will be discussed in the columns of The Tribune next week.

YODLERS HIT OF BIG MAJESTIC BILL

Splendid Program Opens at Popular Theatre Sunday to Immense House

Are you a lover of good singing and yodling mingled with an abundance of clean cut comedy? If so, don't fail to attend the Majestic this week and see the Wilson Bros., two of the best German comedians that have ever appeared in this city. They are billed as "Just Two Plain Germans," and believe me they are plain but an immense team of laugh getters and with voices superior to the usual yodlers.

The DeMarest Bros., musical comedy entertainers, are also clever fellows, introducing violin, cello and novelty, trick playing, interspersed with good songs. Their acts makes an immensely pleasing portion of the program.

Talk about real comedians, the Storiote Comedian, Dave Ferguson, is the kind that never fail to make good. He is repeating his former hits made recently over the Orpheum circuit, and his novel way of telling his stories and good singing of comedy songs are one of the big hits on this week's bill.

Hampton and Bassett as "The Drummer and the Maid," are placed at a disadvantage in opening the show, but the manner in which they extract laughs and applause, is proof that the late comers do not detract the attention of the audience from a most pleasing number.

An act of class and artistic is the posing in bronze, as presented by Germa's Models. Only two people appear in this act, but their work is superior to the general run of acts of this kind ever seen here. Several of the poses, taken from paintings from masters of the old world, are astonishing in work and neatness.

The pictures, as is the custom at this popular family theatre, are on a par with the excellence of the balance of the show. Another new show will arrive Thursday, featuring "The Four Piccolo Midgets."

BEULAH BINFORD LIFE IS PORTRAYED

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Beulah Binford's own story is the title of the motion picture through which the girl enigma of the Beattie case is about to teach a great moral lesson according to the promoters. The film was on view for the first time today. The pictured tale begins at the time Beulah dodged a 60 year old grandmother, began frequenting roller skating rinks and similar resorts. After portraying her life in the streets of Richmond and other cities, the film carries the child through her intimacy with Henry Beattie and winds up with the Beattie tragedy.

The last scene shows the bars of her cell dissolving while Beulah steps forth, her face wearing what is intended for an expression of saintlike repentance, saying: "I wish I could carry my story into every home in America."

Beulah's manager said this last was "not an advertisement but an expression of the girl's desire to make herself a horrible example."

SOLDIERS GO TO SPARTA

A field artillery company of 49 men arrived in the city over the C. & N. W. railroad from St. Louis last evening, remaining here for a short time on their way to Camp Robinson at Sparta, where they will practice military maneuvers for some time. The company remained here until early this morning, when they left for Sparta, where they will be stationed until about September 29. The squad which passed through here was a part of the Missouri militia.

KOEPCKE LOSES GAME

Through their ability to locate the famous "sloppy ball" of Koepcke the Little St. Charles hurler, the Cardinals yesterday defeated the Summits on the Copeland Park diamond by a score of 13 to 5. The Summits took Koepcke out in the second inning, but the game was already lost. Batteries for the Cardinals, Bell and Johnson, for the Summits, Koepcke, Whiskerchen and Borseth.

CHINESE TROOPS TO SEE FIGHTING

Authorities Overwhelmed by Difficulties as Result of Flood Disaster

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 11.—The troops the Chinese government is concentrating to suppress disorders in the Yang Tse river flood district will probably see serious fighting soon. The authorities are so overwhelmed by the disaster's extent that small effort is being made toward relieving the refugees, who are desperate.

The average number of deaths among the 70,000 survivors surrounding Nanking alone is approaching 500, of whom perhaps fifty per cent died literally of starvation and the balance of exposure and disease. Looting and murder are growing rapidly more prevalent. There is still no sign of subsidence of the flood.

News is yet lacking of the sixty Canadian Methodists, thirty Americans and ten or twenty others who are supposed to be enroute under a military escort to the Yang Tse Kiang.

CITY TESTING NEW BUBBLER

A new kind of bubbler was put on the artesian fountain at Seventh and Main streets this morning by the park and health commissions as it was desired to try out the new departure.

The new bubbler was placed on top of the one formerly used and is so fixed that it is considered exceptionally sanitary. It presents a clean and inviting appearance and it is slightly higher than the other ones so that one does not have to stoop quite much to reach it.

This style is used exclusively in the parks in Milwaukee while 250 of them have been installed in the public schools in that city, in all of which places they have proven highly satisfactory.

TAFT PLANS PROGRAM FOR WESTERN TRIP

BEVERLY, Mass., Sept. 11.—Following the return of Secretary Hillis to Beverly late this afternoon, he and the president will take a final review of the plans for the six weeks' western trip which starts next Friday. A speaking plan will be made out for the president with a view to assigning to each audience the topic for discussion most likely to appeal to their interests.

The president played golf this morning and in the afternoon received callers, among them Francis E. Loup, former commissioner of Indian affairs.

FURSTMAN BUYS CAR FOR WORK

Dr. J. M. Furstman has purchased an automobile which, although it is his private property, he will use in connection with his work in the city health department. D. C. Jones officiating at the services. The G. A. R., of which Mr. Hafner was a member, will attend the services. Interment will take place in Oak Grove cemetery. Fessler and Dahl have charge of the funeral arrangements.

METEOR CHIP HITS HOUSE

NEENAH, Wis., Sept. 11.—A queer visitor rapped on the roof of the residence of Street Commissioner Stephen Zemlock between the hours of 3 and 4 Sunday morning. It was a rugged, apparently of flint, and undoubtedly formed a small part of a meteor, and is nearly two inches in length and one inch in diameter. It is a ragged piece of flint, and in one of the small crevices is seen the glimmer of some bright metal. The visitor made such a racket in striking and rolling down the roof that Mr. Zemlock went out and found it.

PROTEST SENT TO TAFT

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 11.—A resolution adopted by the state meeting of the Baptist church here last night calling upon President Taft to compel Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to cancel his engagement as honorary chairman of the coming brewers' convention, was today sent to the president. HEFTI FUNERAL HELD SUNDAY

Veteran La Crosse Policeman Laid Away; Police-men Act as Pallbearers and Escort

A large gathering came together yesterday afternoon to pay their last respects to Paul Hefti, the veteran policeman who had been on the La Crosse force for over 24 years, and whose funeral was held yesterday. He was honored by the police force which he had served so long and faithfully, he being given an escort of six members of the department, while six others acted as pallbearers.

The funeral services were held at the residence, 1525 South Sixth street, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Henry Andreas officiating. Mr. Hefti's friends gathered there in large numbers to pay their respects to his memory.

Officers Dugan, Fitzsimmons, Britton, Johnson, Wendling and Wolfe, all of whom were attired in dress uniform, formed the escort, which walked beside the hearse, three of the policemen being stationed on each side. The active pallbearers were Officers Taylor, Yehle, Coady, Deneen, Horschack and Post, who were in civilian's dress. Six members of the Eighth Ward Aid society, to which Mr. Hefti belonged, were present to represent the society.

The funeral procession was one of the longest seen in the city for some time, as a great many followed the cortege to Oak Grove cemetery to see the body laid to rest.

FLIES STING HORSE; GROCERIES SPILLED

Stung into action by the bites of flies, a horse belonging to August Anderson, grocerman, on the north side, this morning ran away, and in his attempt to escape the insects which were torturing him, smashed the delivery wagon to which he was hitched.

The horse had been left standing in front of the house of William Duncan, 1017 Rose street, while the delivery boy carried in a package of groceries. Unable to bear longer the stings of the insects, the horse started off at a gallop and turned the corner of St. James street toward Copeland Park, at the park the team turned sharply to the south on Mill street, throwing out the greater part of the groceries. Halfway down the block on Mill street the horse turned sharply between two houses, crashing into a ladder which was standing between the two. The ladder came down, breaking the rear right wheel in its fall, and wrecking part of the rear of the wagon. The horse, however, tore loose from the obstruction, and continued until he reached the end of the yard, where he was stopped by the end of the shafts bumping into the fence.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT SAYS HE WON'T QUIT

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—President Charles S. Mellen, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, this afternoon denied that he intended to retire from his position as head of the company. When shown the New Haven dispatch, saying that he would resign upon his arrival in Portland, Mellen said: "No such official announcement has ever been made and no step of this nature is in contemplation."

President Mellen declined to make any addition to his statement. Mellen remained here only five minutes after his arrival in a private car with other officials. The special left for a tour of the northern division.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 11.—The press department of the New Haven road this afternoon stated that it had nothing further to give out on Mellen's resignation. It knew that President Mellen had declined the statement given out by the press department this morning, announcing that Mellen intended to retire, but said there was nothing further to say just now.

PAPAL DELEGATE TALKS DIVORCE

Monsignor Falconio Says National Law Would Tend to Check Evil

HE LAUDS PRESIDENT TAFT

Takes Part in Celebration of Catholic Societies in Chicago; Quigley Speaks

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Expressing his gratification that President Taft had advocated such a measure, Monsignor Diomedeo Falconio, papal representative in the United States here to attend a celebration of Catholic societies today, commended the idea of a national divorce law.

"The agitation is an expression of growing dissatisfaction with existing laws," he said. "Any reform that would tend to eradicate the evil would receive the hearty approbation of the Catholic church."

"It is indeed gratifying to see President Taft interest himself in that question. He is expected, I see, to urge the adoption of uniform laws regarding marriages and divorces. Such a law would make it impossible for a man forbidden to marry in one state to step across the line into another and wed. While we cannot sanction divorce laws of any kind, I can see, with such a law in effect, that the occurrence of such a marriage as that which recently took place and about which newspapers printed so much would have been impossible. If a national divorce law will do only so much good it will be hailed as a benefit to society."

Monsignor Falconio yesterday took part in the celebration of the Catholic societies. Archbishop James T. Quigley also took part in the celebration, addressing the German Catholic Central Verein at Orchestra hall last night on the subject of organization. That the Catholic church in America will have to meet the same attacks that it has in France and Portugal was a warning he uttered.

"The question confronting this organization is what to do about the dangers that are now threatening christianity in the country," he said. "In France and Portugal the church was defeated and persecuted. I want to say that when the time comes in this country and the same forces attack the church, they will not find us unprepared."

HYDRO-AEROPLANE WILL STOP HERE

That the hydro-aeroplane flight from Minneapolis to New Orleans, which has been discussed for some time, will be carried out is evident from the support which the proposition is receiving from the river cities.

According to the present plans trip will be started about Sept. 20, and all of the larger cities on the river will be visited, including La Crosse.

The hydro-aeroplane flight is something which will attract wide interest, being a comparatively new venture. Not only will the aviator fly through the air, but with the new machine may alight on the waters at any time.

Cincinnati 8, Chicago 3
CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The Cubs dropped another to the Reds yesterday, 8 to 3, and fell back two games behind the Giants in the pennant race. Hoblitzel won the game for Cincinnati by hitting a homer over the rightfield fence with the bases full and two out in the seventh inning. One run had counted before Hoblitzel made his swat. Chance yanked Richie after this round. The Reds counted once off Richie in the sixth, and clouted home two more off King Cole in the eighth. The Cubs bumped Gaspar for four straight hits, one a double, with none out, in the first but got only two runs. Score: R H E Chicago . . . 200001000—3 10 1 Cincinnati . . . 000001520—8 9 1 Batteries—Richie, Cole and Needham; Compton, Gaspar, McLean and Clarke.

St. Louis 7, Pittsburgh 6

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11.—St. Louis won from Pittsburgh in a slugging match, 7 to 6, and gained an even break in the series. Clarke used four pitchers in the game and all were pounded hard. Golden started for St. Louis but was wild and gave way to Bill Steele, the latter having a hard time in getting away with the verdict. Fred Clarke was put out of the game in the fifth for kicking at Umpire Riegler. Clarke claimed that a passed ball had gone into the Pittsburgh's bench. DETROIT, Sept. 11.—Donovan, Cobb and Olsen won yesterday's game for the Tigers, 2 to 1, in thirteen innings. Cobb did his part by hitting the circuit in the eighth on bad throws by Olsen and Ball. Donovan did his part by contributing the error which started Cobb around with the tying run and by a fumble in the ninth which let Donovan home with the decided encounter. Score: R H E Detroit . . . 0000000100001—2 9 3 Cleveland . . . 000000100000—1 5 3 Batteries—Donovan and Stange; Blanding and Easterly.

La Crosse Athletes Take Leaguers' Measure in Yesterday's Battle,
4 to 3

The La Crosse Athletes took the La Crosse league team's measure yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 3. Frank Baillies, formerly of the Winona team, was much in evidence for the Athletes, allowing the leaguers seven hits, three of which came in the last inning. He was backed up in great style by his teammates, who made several hard plays and spoiled the leaguers' chances for scoring.

Opposing Baillies was Watson, who pitched shutout ball after the first inning. He allowed only six scattered hits and struck out seven. The Athletes scored two of their runs in the first inning on a pass, sacrifice and double steel, engineered by Collins and Hackner. Their other runs came in the eighth and ninth innings, the score in the eighth being made on two hits, a sacrifice and an error. The last run in the ninth was made on a single and double.

The leaguers scored their first tally in the fifth, getting a hit, Wals then stealing second and third and scoring on an out to right. The last two runs came in the ninth on an error, a sacrifice and three singles in a row.

The Athletes will play the Caledonia Commercial at Caledonia on next Sunday, Sept. 17th.

Neither the Mayor, Thomas E. Knott, arrested at his solicitation of T. B. Dean, who asserted he had paid $5,000 for a heating franchise, nor the members of the council involved in the case would make statements other than to utter general denials.

DIAMOND DUST

Vive Hoblitzel, cried the Giants when the Cincinnati guardian of first laid out that circuit cirler in the seventh and pushed "them Cubs" just a bit further back in the standing.

Six pitchers were needed in the final Pittsburgh game for the season in St. Louis, nearly all of the Smoky City twirlers being used in a vain effort to avoid defeat.

A sore arm has temporarily retired Marty O'Toole and he will take treatment at West Baden, Ind., pending the Pittsburgh series with Chicago and New York.

The altitude record was sorely in danger when Hank O'Day learned of Frank Bancroft's warning to the Giants not to let Hank umpire in the Chicago series. The Cincinnati business manager was so much impressed he promptly backed down.

Perhaps the incident is closed—perhaps not. Crickey but old Colonel Cobb can play some baseball! Sliding around a man who has the ball in his hand is pretty much a class by itself.

The present week promises to prove the turning point in the Cub-Giants-Pirates race for the National league gonfalon with a seeming advantage for New York. The McGraw crew have the lowly Bostons on for four games, while the bothersome St. Louis and blood thirsty Pirates are the two problems confronting the Windy City aspirant.

AUTOIST RETIRES

ONE HUNDRED NOTABLE
FIGURES IN BASEBALL

No. 91—FRED CLARKE

THE MAN WHO DOESN'T DISAP-POINT

In the baseball dictionaries of the future, you will find opposite the word Fred Clarke, the following synonyms, Old Reliable, all-round Gibraltar, six per cent bonds, and other words and phrases denoting steadfastness of purpose and achievement. To put it plainly, you can set in a bet on this Fred Clarke for win, place and show, on the season's race, and go to sleep on it. He doesn't disappoint.

Clarke comes from Kansas, where they grow the finest specimens in all the kingdoms and queenoms, animal, vegetable and sporting. John J. Ingalls, the greatest orator of modern times, came from Kansas. So did many other proud product, and they all combined to make Kansas the most picturesque state in the republic. Not the least notable of the Kansas is Clarke, the baseball giant, Clarke, who for years led the left fielders in left fielding; who twice made a mark the highest on record in the National league; who for ten years batted over .300, and who planted the first pennant in Pittsburgh and followed it up with two more of the same sort in immediate succession. You've heard of Clarke.

Fred Clarke is a graduate farmer-cist. He was brought up on the old homestead, and you can argue anything you like out of that. The biographies like to dwell on the country lads who reach eminence, and there's no harm in the practice. Anyway, Fred was a choreboy on the prairie and a baseball player on the level. Long before the world's fair he was playing with the Mascots of Des Moines, and they made a wise pick when they added him to their team. A Memphis scout, who had strayed a few states west, watched the work of young Clarke, and snapped him for the Tennessee team. That was move number 1. Billy Barnie, who solved problems for Louisville, glimpsed Clarke at his cheerful Memphis endeavors, and next thing Fred was Colonel Clarke of Kentucky. Move two.

Louisville liked Clarke, and Clarke liked Louisville, and between the two of them they became famous. A good part of Clarke's excellent record was made with the Louisville team, and it was a real loss to the burg when Boss Dreyfuss beckoned the willing worker to the Pittsburgh pasture. But what was Kentucky's deprivation was distinct gain to Pennsy. Clarke threw himself into the bigger work with a spirit that cast out all thought of the team's past disappointments. He was given the management and captaincy of as likely a crew as he wished to look at, and he decided that if he couldn't plant a pennant, where none had grown before, he'd back out of the state and commune with the cows on his native prairies.

This wasn't necessary. Pittsburgh ran a good second in that 1900 year, and by this time, having felt out his material, Fred was not to be headed. He piloted Pittsburgh into the winning stride in 1901, 1902 and 1903, and he made the name of the Pirates the most dreaded in all the land of baseball. While he was doing these big things for the team, he was serving up an individual example that had as much to do with encouraging his players as all the precept you could utter in a league season. His own record for big batting stood .354, .327, .406, .318, .348, .316, .321, .351, .306 and .309. In left fielding he led the league in 1901, with a mark of .967; in 1904, he fielded .979, and in 1907 and again in 1909 he led with .987—the highest figures since the beginning of organized professional ball in 1871. And all the time running bases like an outside man at a race track in the days before the trouble. Besides which he covered the ground as thoroughly as a blizzard snow storm, and never felt fatigue.

It's a good thing there isn't a ball team made up of nine Fred Clarks. It would rob the game of all interest.
